Today's Program:

Flower Pot Auction! Rotarians Buck Haas, Brad Fong and auctioneer Tyler Schoch

This week's program:

Flower pots on the auction block

Our annual Flower Pot Auction takes place during our meeting this week. Rotarians will be entertained by auctioneer Tyler Schoch, who will auction a selection of 20 high quality flowering plants and succulents in containers from Taylor Nursery. Lead by Rotarians Buck Haas, Brad Fong, Chip Poland and Jim Ozbun, with expertise from Brenda Fong, the sale will also include a silent auction. Proceeds will benefit the charitable causes supported by the Dickinson Rotary Club. Pictured above is a container from a previous Pot Sale.

Updates on the T-Rex Mall

At last week's meeting, Rotarian and ABLE Executive Director Mary Anderson told us about the latest updates at the T-Rex mall, now owned by ABLE, Inc. She highlighted the installation of the new Universal changing station and provided insights on how to book and schedule the use of the bathroom facilities. Mary also discussed future updates planned for the T-Rex Mall, showcasing the commitment to enhancing accessibility for all visitors. She showed a short video on America's first fully accessible and universally designed mobile restroom to emphasize the importance of inclusivity and accessibility in public spaces. <https://momentumrefresh.com/> ~contributed by Amanda Wilson
