Today's Program

Conflict and Resolution in the Library, Library Director Ian Anguiano & Librarian Jade Praus

Today's Program:

Resolving Conflicts in the Library

The Dickinson Area Public Library has changed some space and program locations, and is planning for an expansion (artist conception above). Meet new Library Director Ian Anguiano and Children's Librarian Jade Praus at this week's meeting as they explain the updates and coming changes.

Last week: Meet Rotarian Chip Poland

We are bringing back Classification Speeches as a way to get to know our fellow Rotarians. Last week, Chip Poland told us he planned to go into the workforce—and not the college past one semester—and now he's the director of Agriculture and Technical Studies at Dickinson State University. He and his wife, Kay, have three kids, four grandkids, sheep and horses. He was recruited into Rotary about 17 years ago by Rotarian Jim Ozburn. He loves our Dictionary Project and Reading at Head Start, and enjoys volunteering with the Pancake Carnival.

Rotary Peace & Conflict month

Last week, Club President Kyle Smith talked about Rotary's Peace and Conflict Resolution/Prevention month. He learned that Rotary has seven Peace Centers, with 130 students per year studying many paths with full fellowships funded by Rotary. There are 1,400 Peace Center alumni in 11 countries.

Helping during disasters, through ShelterBox, is another way for Rotarians to help facilitate peace, he said. ShelterBox was started by a Rotary Club in 2000 and today provides emergency shelter during natural disasters around the world.
